

FOUR NEW COUNTERS FOR PASSENGERS' CHECKING IN ON NIS AIRPORT

Starting from today, the workers at Nis Airport will check in baggage and passengers on 4 counters for 2 different flights at the same time. In this way, the airport services will be more operational and will provide better service to passengers who fly from Nis to some European destinations. Nis City Mayor Darko Bulatović visited the airport so that he could personally check the way the procedures for registering of passengers and baggage were being done airport check-in counters. "It is very important that Nis Airport continues to improve. We expect this year a record number of passengers, as many as 300 000. As local self-government we are trying to help further modernization of the airport. Some of the activities that are ahead of us are the reconstruction of buildings, purchase of new equipment, such as the new unit to supply aircraft with electricity. Together with SMATSA we will implement the project of procurement of the new control tower and new lights for night landings", said Mayor Bulatovic on this occasion. The City of Nis invested 35 million dinars in the works on the reconstruction of the airport building while Nis Airport contributed 2 million dinars from their own funds.
